

FLAT RACE DISTANCES

Flat-only racecourses, Flat tracks at Dual Purpose courses and All-Weather tracks have had their distances re-measured using independent surveyors in co-ordination with the British Horseracing Authority (BHA) and the Racecourse Association (RCA). The project was initiated following feedback from the Horserace Bettors Forum (HBF).

The project follows the re-measurement of Jump race distances in 2015 and is the first time Flat race distances have been re-measured since 1991. Courses have been professionally surveyed to the nearest yard on a line that is two yards off the innermost rail. This will ensure greater accuracy of racing data, which will benefit both the racing industry and the betting public.

In the vast majority of cases, any changes to advertised distances resulting from re-measurement are not likely to be significant. This is because the measuring line and methodology has not changed since the last re-measurement, in contrast to the re-measurement of Jump racecourses when both were altered.

A number of racecourses surveyed within the past three years have been granted dispensation from this project, although their official distances are published within this supplement.

In the case of Ffos Las this information will be published before they commence racing in June.

As a result of the current project, some racecourses may amend distances or move starts to reflect advertised race distances. Clerks of the Course will retain the flexibility to move rails both before and on racedays to ensure the best and safest possible racing surface.

The new distances and amended starts will appear in all publications and platforms for fixtures taking place from 8th May onwards. From 13th April, the BHA will also make a full list available on its website (<http://www.britishhorseracing.com/resource-centre/racecourse/>).
